[redacted] stated that most of this information is of hearsay nature, and that it comes primarily from associates of his who are involved in gambling in Chicago. b7D

It is noted that this PCI has been [redacted] in Chicago for [redacted] and that he has a wide circle of acquaintances, not only [redacted] but also in the syndicate, having been at one time [redacted] AL CAPONE and other syndicate chieftains.

PCI advised that it is his understanding that the West Side of Chicago is run by JACK "SKIPPY" CERONE.

He said that the West Roosevelt Road area of Chicago is ruled by LENNY PATRICK [redacted] b6 b7C

PCI advised that the loop is controlled by GUS ALEX. He stated that although most of the information concerning the syndicate comes second hand, he is certain of the fact, from first hand, that GUS ALEX controlls the loop.

As a basis of his statement in this regard, he stated that approximately [redacted] of it. Since he understood that GUS ALEX controlled the loop, and since [redacted] GUS ALEX at Postl's Health Service, 188 West Randolph, [redacted] He stated that on this occasion, ALEX indicated to him that he was in charge of the loop and that he would [redacted] b7D

PCI stated that to date, he has never been [redacted]

PCI said that the near North Side of Chicago is ruled by three individuals whom he believes have almost equal influences in this area. He identified these three individuals as JIMMY ALLEGRETTI, MARSHALL CAIFANO, and JOEY CAESAR. He stated that CAIFANO has most of his leg work done by two lieutenants. He identified these two individuals as OBBIE FRABOTTA and MILWAUKEE PHIL ALDERISIO.

He said that these two individuals are noted for their ruthlessness, and in his opinion, are two of the most dangerous members in the syndicate in Chicago. He stated that it is his belief from a personal knowledge of OBBIE FRABOTTA that FRABOTTA is mentally deranged.

PCI advised that the South Side of Chicago is controlled by RALPH PIERCE, [redacted] the PCI. He stated that it is his understanding that GUS ALEX "has a piece of the South Side" as far south as Cermack Road or possibly as far as 31st Street, and from there on south, PIERCE is the kingpin of the syndicate. b7D

The PCI stated that EDDIE VOGEL, [redacted] controls slot machines throughout the Chicago area. PCI stated that VOGEL, however, is not as active in Chicago as he has been in previous years; however, the PCI said that this should by no means indicate that VOGEL has relinquished control of slot machines or other coin operated machines.

PCI advised further that it is his understanding that Cook County, outside of Chicago, and particularly in the western suburbs, is controlled by "MOONEY" GIANCANA. PCI was unable to advise as to where GIANCANA's control ends and where people like FRANKIE LAPORTE and FRANCES CURRY and BABE TUFFINELLI and other notorious syndicate leaders commence.

Questioned about MURRAY L. HUMPHREYS, the PCI stated that although he has known HUMPHREYS in previous years, he hasn't seen HUMPHREYS for quite some time, and that he understands from a friend of HUMPHREYS that HUMPHREYS has gone almost completely blind, and that he has decreased his activity quite substantially.

Concerning TONY ACCARDO, PCI stated that he has heard that ACCARDO is making serious efforts to decrease his activity in behalf of the syndicate in Chicago. He stated that in this regard, he understands that five or six years ago, ACCARDO obtained the passpost and intended to leave the United States and settle permanently in [redacted] He stated that the reason for this is that CLARICE ACCARDO, the wife of TONY ACCARDO, [redacted] have become increasingly disturbed over the noteriety which ACCARDO has received in the past, and that they have been making considerable efforts to influence ACCARDO to at least leave the Chicago area and if possible, to leave the United States in order to leave the past behind and allow his wife and children to be brought in more normal circumstances. b7D

Also tending to confirm the opinion of the PCI in this regard he said, is the fact that he understands thzt ACCARDO has [redacted] PCI also stated, concerning the above mentioned passport obtained by ACCARDO, that it is his understanding that although ACCARDO was successful in obtaining a passport in the early 1950s, that the syndicate is unwilling to allow ACCARDO to disassociate himself from hoodlum activities, and that through a connection which they have in the Passport Division of the State Department, they were able to have ACCARDO's passport cancelled.

PCI was unable to assign an area to DE LUCIA (RICCA) and stated that he felt RICCA spends considerable more time in Miami, and that he hears more concerning RICCA [redacted] than he hears in Chicago, where he almost never hears of RICCA.

PCI stated that ROSS PRIO controls the far North Side for the syndicate, and that here is a high-class gentleman among the hoodlums. He stated that years ago, PRIO operated a dairy or two, and that at that time, he was not a gangster nor did he have hoodlum connections. However, the hoodlums muscled in on his business and in order to protect himself and his interests, PRIO joined the hoodlum element and his star rose rapidly in the syndicate thereafter. He stated, however, that PRIO is almost never seen in the company of other high ranking syndicate members, and that he understands that he lives in a far northern suburb and does his best to keep disassociated from the hoodlum element.

PCI stated that he understands that on the near North Side there is a [redacted] who is "coming up fast in the ranks of the syndicate". He was asked whether or not this man is [redacted] and he stated that he does not know [redacted] and that the name [redacted] does not mean anything to him. b6 b7C b7D

PCI stated that a gambler named LOU TOURNABENE is becoming a [redacted] in the syndicate setup, and that he is beginning to hear more and more from his gambler friends concerning the rising power of this individual. He stated that TOURNABENE [redacted] named [redacted] but that [redacted] on LOUIS and is small stuff".

PCI stated that he [redacted] GEORGE BIEBER and MIKE BRODKIN, hoodlum attorneys. He stated that BIEBER and BRODKIN represent in one way or another, almost all the members of the syndicate, and that it is his opinion that they are the only attorneys for the syndicate. He stated that MIKE BRODKIN has [redacted] of whom he knows; one of these is named [redacted] is named [redacted] who intends to maintain a residence in the [redacted]

In conclusion, PCI stated that the above information represents information which he has gathered throughout [redacted] and that he understands from a reliable source that the syndicate consists [redacted]

It is noted that he has named [redacted] and assigned the territories for which they are representatives and stated that he is unable to furnish information as to the identity of territories of the other [redacted] He stated, however, that he will become increasingly alert for this type of information and furnish it as it becomes known to him.

JOSEPH D. PIGNATELLO

On October 20, 1958, SAs PAUL B. FRANKFURT and WILLIAM O. HOELMER attempted to interview JOSEPH D. PIGNATELLO at his residence at 6018 South Paulina. At this time he respectfully declined to discuss anything with the agents and remarked that the only time he would ever talk to the FBI would be in the presence of his attorney.

On November 6, 1958, T-1 advised that he has observed an Italian, age about 30, 5'7", 180 pounds, black hair, apparently chauffeuring VOGEL. T-1 was certain that this was not "BUTCH" LADON and it is therefore assumed that it was PIGNATELLO.

FRANK "STRONGY" FERRARO

On November 6, 1958, T-1 advised VOGEL recently spent over an hour talking to FRANK FERRARO in the lobby of the apartment building at 320 Oakdale.

On November 17, 1958, T-5 advised SA PAUL B. FRANKFURT that the following two men were considered VOGEL's so-called [redacted] juke box locations:

[redacted] (WE 5-9707)
[redacted] (KI 5-2006)

On December 3, 1958, T-6 advised he has had no recent contact with subject and was unable to furnish any pertinent information concerning subject at this time.

CG 92-345

On September 26, 1958, T-7 advised he used to be fairly close to VOGEL but seldom sees him anymore. He stated he knows that VOGEL no longer is in charge of slot machines in Cook County and that he does not know the degree of VOGEL's involvement in the Chicago crime syndicate at this time.

D. ACCEPTANCE OF SUBPOENA

The Senate Select Committee advised they had a subpoena for VOGEL requiring his testimony at Washington, D.C. regarding irregularities in the coin machine business. They also advised they were experiencing difficulty in locating VOGEL for service of this subpoena and requested that in the event the Bureau received information as to his whereabouts that they should be advised.

Accordingly, on December 3, 1958, a surveillance was conducted in the vicinity of 320 Oakdale. At 10:00 a.m. on this date "BUTCH" LADON was observed to drive into a parking space at the rear of subject's apartment building in a 1957 two-tone blue Pontiac bearing 1958 license Number 3017-408. "BUTCH" entered the building and returned at 11:36 a.m. in company with subject VOGEL and entered Pontiac. "BUTCH" backed out of the parking space and left the premises by a rear alley leading to Wellington one block north. Subject turned north off Wellington onto Sheridan Road and proceeded at rapid speed to Belmont Avenue, where they were stopped for a red light. At the time VOGEL's car was stopped in traffic for the red light, he reluctantly accepted service from Committee Investigator JAMES MC SHANE.

E. MISCELLANEOUS

Material in this envelope has been masked pursuant to NARS appraisal of Field files and records mandated by Court Order 1/10/80, Civil Action 79-1655. The envelope is not to be removed without the authority of the Support Services Supervisor.

Accordingly, on October 28, 1958, Mr. [redacted] b6 b7C Opelika Manufacturing Company, 321 West Chestnut, caused a search to be made of stockholder records and advised that the name of EDWARD VOGEL or any of his aliases does not appear. He stated it was possible VOGEL's name may be held by any one of a number of brokerage houses in which case the name of the stockholder would be concealed. He informed that to his knowledge, VOGEL does not know any of the company officials nor does he exert any influence over company policies, and stated the name of VOGEL had never come up in connection with any company matters.

VOGEL SHOULD BE CONSIDERED ARMED AND DANGEROUS BECAUSE OF DANGEROUS PROPENSITIES.

Disgrace to U. S., McClellan Says

RACKETEER EXPOSED
Tribune exposed Hyman [Red] Larner as coin machine boss with three identities. Story on page 2.

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, Feb. 25—Three witnesses accused of terrorist shakedowns of Chicago coin machine operators Larner declines to tell how he maintains two homes and six cars on $8,709 a year.

defied the Senate rackets committee Wednesday when it tried to wring their stories from them.

They were Edward [Dutch] Vogel, long time slot machine boss for the Capones; Hyman [Red] Larner, alias Thomas Waterfall, and Fred Thomas [Juke Box Smitty] Smith.

They invoked the 5th amendment and refused to talk, but their silence did not conceal their backgrounds. The story of their criminal operations was told by other witnesses.

Attack 5th Amendment

The three were joined in their refusal to talk by a faltering witness whose lips, the committee said, were sealed by fear of murder. He was William Knapp, who conceded under questioning by Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, that he had done nothing wrong and hence had no legal ground for invoking the 5th amendment to avoid incriminating himself.

The day was marked by demands of committee members that the frivolous use of the 5th amendment be banned by law, and by criticism of courts for protecting criminals.

Assail Cross Case Judge

Members of the committee assailed Vogel and his henchmen as "birds of a feather," and Sen. John McClellan, chairman of the committee, branded their activities as a "disgrace to a civilized country."

The committee members also protested a verdict of acquittal directed by Judge Richmond Keech in federal district court here last week that freed James Cross, president of the Bakery Workers union, of a perjury charge. The judge held that the committee exceeded its jurisdiction when it questioned Cross about charges that he participated in beating up a man and woman in their hotel at the union's San Francisco convention in 1956, which he denied.

Mundt said he hopes the courts give more reasonable consideration to the problem than was given the "strange verdict" by which Cross was acquitted of perjury after he had denied the sworn testimony of a husband and wife that he had invaded their hotel room and beaten them.

When hearings are resumed March 10, Kennedy said, early witnesses will be John [Sandy] O'Brien, Chicago vice president of the teamsters, and Glimco.

Larner, turned out to be the mystery man of the story. He is the former operating director of the Chicago Independent Amusement association, which Sen. McClellan said was used by Vogel to shake down operators for $108,000 a year.

Larner, who until recently kept a luxury apartment on Lake Shore dr., Chicago, is living in Miami Shores, Fla.

Terrorists Ruin Machines

As Kennedy and Arthur Kaplan, a committee investigator, put the story together, Vogel installed Larner as head of the C. I. A. A. in 1956 to force operators to join the association and pay for "protection."

A deal was made with Juke Box Smitty, as the story was told, whereby the operators would think they had also been taken into local 134 of Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, of which he was business agent. Smith then sold the operators union labels to paste on their machines. With the labels, Smith promised, the operators would be protected by the union from having their locations pirated.

Because the cost of "protection" was $1 a machine a month, some operators refused to join the association. Their machines were chopped up or ruined with acid by James Rini and Alex Ross, terrorists whom Kennedy said Larner hired at $150 a week.

Larner refused to say whether the story was true or what he did with the $108,000 a year he received, altho Kennedy said it came from an "organized shakedown" by Larner, Vogel, and Smith.

Luxury on $8,700 a Year

Kennedy said that while reporting an average income of $8,700 on his tax returns for the last four years, Larner has bought two Cadillacs, two Mercurys, and a Chevrolet; maintained a Miami Shores mansion and his Chicago apartment, and bought a cabin cruiser, the hull of which alone is insured for $34,000.

Sen. Karl Mundt [R., S. D.] told Larner:

"You're virtually confessing you evaded taxes when you duck behind the 5th amendment. You're sending the internal revenue men an engraved invitation initialed R. S. V. P., and they'll be there when you get home to Florida."

Larner was followed to the witness stand by William Knapp of 859 Broadview av., Highland Park, and Sam Greenberg of 2911 Jarlath st., Chicago. Greenberg was president of the C. I. A. A. and Knapp was at one time a vice president.

When both invoked the 5th amendment, Kennedy demanded of Knapp, "What has changed? Who told you to take the 5th?"

Kennedy then told the committee that Knapp had told investigator Kaplan in Chicago last August that he never wanted to join the association and joined only because "I thought Waterfall would knock me off if I didn't."

Kennedy, McClellan and Mundt pleaded with Knapp to talk. Kennedy said Knapp was dragged into the association and was innocent of wrong doing in this connection.

Ordered to Be Mum

Kennedy said it was obvious that Knapp had been ordered to invoke the amendment and sought in vain to wring from him an admission that Larner or Vogel had threatened his life.

"Have you done anything wrong?" Knapp was asked.

Forgetting his 5th amendment plea, he blurted out "not to my knowledge."

When Knapp refused to tell whether he knows Larner, Mundt ordered:

"Take a look at him. He's the fellow behind you in the dark glasses that 5th amendment witnesses wear. Then maybe you'll want some dark glasses yourself."

McClellan told him:

"By refusing to answer, you're putting yourself in a class with Ross and Rini, all birds of a feather."

Ross and Rini, acid terrorists for the C. I. A. A., were brought handcuffed together from Stateville penitentiary to the witness stand Tuesday. They invoked the 5th amendment.

He smiled when he mentioned his four sons, and cringed when Mundt told him, "You smile when you talk about your four sons, but they won't smile when they read about you in the papers."

Noting that Knapp was reading his 5th amendment plea from a printed slip, not the usual mimeographed one that 5th amendment witnesses normally use, Mundt asked him where he got it.

Knapp said he found it on the table in front of the witness chair.

"Are they distributing them here?" exploded Mundt.

Smith, who gave his address as 1247 N. Ashland av., River Forest, refused to answer all questions. He sat in silence when asked if he has been using his union connection to shake down coin box operators for 20 years and whether he worked for Joey Glimco, Sam [Mooney] Giancana, and the late and unlamented Jake [Greasy Thumb] Guzik.

"You're a common, ordinary cheap thug!" McClellan told Smith.

Vogel gave his address as 320 Oakdale av., Chicago, and refused to answer any more questions.

Probe Told Vogel Rules Mob Here

By Carleton Kent
Sun-Times Bureau

WASHINGTON—Edward (Dutch) Vogel heard himself given Al Capone's onetime billing Wednesday before the Senate racket investigating committee as Chicago's "overlord of the underworld."

He accepted the listing impassively, by taking refuge in the Fifth Amendment against incriminating himself, just as he did when Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) flung this question at him:

"You realize that you yourself are just a cheap, common thug, don't you?"

Vogel was the last witness, and in a sense the star, as the committee finished its four-day excursion into the ax-wielding, acid-throwing, mayhem-threatening business activities of Chicago's industry devoted to juke-boxes and other coin-operated amusement machines.

Parade Of Witnesses

But there was a parade of other Chicago witnesses to the stand. They were identified as either employes of Vogel's or as afraid of him.

Almost all of them read the same lines as Vogel—taken from a small card placed by the microphones on the witness table, and prepared by Vogel's Washington attorney, H. Cliff Alder. It said:

"I respectfully decline to answer because I honestly believe it might tend to incriminate me."

An exception was Fred Thomas (Jukebox Smitty) Smith, former business agent for the coin-machine division of the electrical workers' Local 134, which was described throughout the hearings as an enforcing arm of hoodlums' operations in the jukebox and game machine racket.

Return Cue Card

Smith kept replying that his "questions" might tend to incriminate him, instead of "answers," until finally Sens. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) and Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) directed a committee staff member to return the card, to prompt him in his lines.

Goldwater observed the Fifth Amendment card was so popular that "they must pass those out at the door."

Smith was accused of using his union position for the last 20 years to shake down coin-machine operators around Chicago for Vogel and other ranking gangsters, as well as for his own benefit.

Other witnesses from Chicago were:

Hyman Larner, alias Thomas (Red) Waterfall, a sun-tanned Miami Shores (Fla.) resident. He was described as the man Vogel put in control of the Chicago Independent Amusement Assn. of Coin-Machine Operators to help Jukebox Smitty keep competitors from jumping the locations of members' machines.

Sam Greenberg, president of the Coin-Machine Operators' Assn., which committee investigators said had used the name and paraphernalia of Smith's union local, as well as several strong-arm hoodlums, to insure use of its members' machines in Chicago area taverns and restaurants.

William Knapp, Highland Park coin-machine operator, onetime second vice president of the association, who resisted all committee efforts to find out whether he had been threatened with bodily harm unless he declined to testify.

Pleads Fifth

Knapp mostly pleaded the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination. But occasionally he varied his answers, and once he was emphatic in labeling testimony from a staff investigator as false.

Arthur G. Kaplan told the committee that in Chicago Knapp had said that Larner, alias Waterfall, accompanied by "a very tough-looking man with a hoodlum appearance" urged him to join the association, on grounds it could give him "protection."

According to Kaplan, the witness had told him he agreed to join because "I thought Waterfall might knock me off."

"You're making a statement that's far from the truth," Knapp said.

He also denied he had talked to anybody in the underworld after getting a committee subpena, or had been threatened unless he changed his story. But when chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy asked him what was the true story, he pleaded the Fifth Amendment again.

Knapp also denied he had "done anything wrong," or had participated with Larner in taking any money paid the association by coin-machine operators.

Finally, Chairman Mc Clellan said Knapp either was afraid or was deliberately choosing to associate with hoodlums. Goldwater ascertained that Knapp had four children, three of them boys, and remarked:

"I notice you smiling up there. I don't think your boys will smile when they read about this in the newspapers tomorrow."

Kennedy told the committee that Larner had used thugs armed with acid and axes to destroy the machines of coin-machine operators who were reluctant to join the association Vogel had formed.

Get $100,000 A Year

The take for a year was $100,000—based on the rate of $1 a month per machine operated by members, Kennedy said.

(Acting on complaints by coin-machine operators, state's attorney's police raided Chicago Independent Amusement Assn. headquarters at 165 E. Ontario on March 27, 1958.)

(The detectives seized a membership list and financial records after learning the association was planning to place the tax of $1 a month on amusement devices. Greenberg of 2911 W. Jarlath, was listed as president. Larner, who lived at 3430 N. Lake Shore, acted as executive secretary. He has been described as a crime syndicate slot machine boss.)

The committee counsel also noted that Larner had an apartment in Chicago, a luxurious house in Florida, pictures of which were shown the committee, and maintained a number of costly autos, as well as a boat in Florida.

Income Tax Question

Yet, he said, Larner's federal income tax returns showed he had done this on a reported income averaging $8,700 a year. The sun-tanned, crew-cut witness, expensively dressed, pleaded possible self-incrimination instead of explaining how he managed this on such a modest income.

Whereupon, Mundt warned him he was in effect issuing an R.S.V.P. invitation to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service to investigate him.

Smith and Vogel took the worst verbal beatings from the committee, but hung resolutely to the Fifth Amendment plea.

The former union business agent refused even to answer the question, "Are you alive?" asked by McClellan.

Kennedy described Smith's career this way:

Larner Brought In

A protege of the late Umbrella Mike Boyle, chief of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers' Local 134, he first co-operated in using the union's name and prestige to enforce an organization for protection of Chicago jukebox operators.

He first suggested to Greenberg that the game-machine operators hire Larner as its executive secretary, so that he could make union arrangements with him.

These deals consisted of letting Larner have union stickers and other emblems to suggest that the union had a contract with the association, whereas in fact it never made any official arrangement with Larner.

Smith also was asociated with Charles (Chuck) English in Lormar Distributing Co., which put out records to jukebox owners—120,000 cheap counterfeits, the committee heard Tuesday.

Smith's brother Frank worked for Vogel, who operates a big coin-machine vending business in cigarets, as well as in jukeboxes and game machines.

Partners Of Glimco

Smith was a partner in the jukebox business with Joey Glimco, of the Chicago teamsters union Local 777.

In 1948, Chicago Simplex Co., owned by Jake Guzik and Tony Accardo paid Smith $5,000.

Smith has spent approximately two winter months of each year at the King Cole Hotel in Miami Beach.

Yet, Kennedy said, his income from 1951 through 1957 averaged about $7,000. The witness refused to testify when Kennedy asked, "How are you able to live so well on $7,000 a year?"

The committee also was told that one of Smith's daughters was a paying guest at the Jack O Lantern lodge, a summer camp for girls in Wisconsin operated by James Hoffa, head of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and a Detroit associate, Owen Bert Brennan.

Vogel's History

Vogel listened without sign of enthusiasm to his history, too.

Kennedy said he had been Al Capone's lieutenant when Chicago gangsters took over the polling booths at a local election in Cicero in the 1920s, and had been indicted with Capone and others in 1926 for conspiracy to violate the Prohibition Law.

Kennedy also said Vogel had been in business with Guzik and Frank (The Enforcer) Nitti, was a close associate of Paul (The Waiter) Ricca, and a chum of Accardo, Murray (The Camel) Humphrey, Chuck English and others who helped make Chicago gangsterism notorious in the 1920s and later.

The day was marked by demands of committee members that the frivolous use of the 5th amendment be banned by law, and by criticism of courts for protecting criminals.

Assail Cross Case Judge

Members of the committee assailed Vogel and his henchmen as "birds of a feather," and Sen. John McClellan, chairman of the committee, branded their activities as a "disgrace to a civilized country."

The committee members also protested a verdict of acquittal directed by Judge Richmond Keech in federal

The judge held that the committee exceeded its jurisdiction when it questioned Cross about charges that he participated in beating up a man and woman in their hotel at the union's San Francisco convention in 1956, which he denied.

Mundt said he hopes the courts give more reasonable consideration to the problem than was given the "strange verdict" by which Cross was acquitted of perjury after he had denied the sworn testimony of a husband and wife

000 a year he received, altho Kennedy said it came from an "organized shakedown" by Larner, Vogel, and Smith.

Luxury on $8,700 a Year

Kennedy said that while reporting an average income of $8,700 on his tax returns for the last four years, Larner has bought two Cadillacs, two Mercurys, and a Chevrolet; maintained a Miami Shores mansion and his Chicago apartment, and bought a cabin cruiser, the hull of which alone is insured for $34,000.

Sen. Karl Mundt [R., S. D.] told Larner:

"You're virtually confessing president.

When both invoked the 5th amendment, Kennedy demanded of Knapp, "What has changed? Who told you to take the 5th?"

Kennedy then told the committee that Knapp had told investigator Kaplan in Chicago last August that he never wanted to join the association and joined only because "I thought Waterfall would knock me off if I didn't."

Kennedy, McClellan and Mundt pleaded with Knapp to talk. Kennedy said Knapp was dragged into the association and was innocent of wrong doing in this connection.

Kennedy said it was obvious that Knapp had been ordered to invoke the amendment and sought in vain to wring from him an admission that Larner or Vogel had [illegible] McClellan out.

LARNER AN IVY LEAGUE HOOD OF COIN BOXES

BY SANDY SMITH

Hyman [Red] Larner, 43, the slot machine boss with three identities, a crew hair cut, and a taste for high living, was exposed by a TRIBUNE investigation of coin machine racketeering.

He was a mystery man in the crime syndicate when the mob's slot machine king, Eddie Vogel, made him executive secretary of the Chicago Independent Amusement association, 165 E. Ontario st., in 1957.

Before Senate Probers

Then Larner, described as an Ivy league type of hoodlum, directed acid and ax attacks against the games of coin machine operators who refused to join the association and pay him a monthly tax of $1 on each machine.

In an appearance before the Senate rackets committee in Washington on Wednesday, Larner didn't give the committee much more than his right name.

But that, however, was more than he gave Police Capt. William A. Balswick's detectives in 1957 during an investigation of coin machine violence. Larner told police that he was Thomas Waterfall, a former resident of St. Louis, and they believed him.

asked them if they were acid terrorists hired by Edward [Dutch] Vogel to help him exact tribute from Chicago coin machine operators.

They were James Rini, an undersized hawk-nosed bandit known to his victims as the Green Hornet, and Alex Ross, another bandit who has told investigators he might have gone straight if he had not been working with Rini while Rini was holding up churches.

3 Man Terrorist Squad

The two Illinois convicts, brought here from Stateville penitentiary, were pictured by James McShane, a New York policeman on loan to the committee, as members of a three man terrorist squad. The other was Frank Musteri.

McShane explained that Musteri was not present because he was shot to death July 29, 1957, while the three were trying to murder Willard Bates in an ambush in Brookfield, Ill. McShane said that Bates escaped, only to have his head blown off a short time later in Lyons.

Rini and Ross were paid $150 a week each for ruining coin machines with acid or chopping them up, McShane said.

Unbelievable Violence

He cast some doubt on Ross' remark about going straight, explaining that Ross has been arrested 22 times and convicted eight times, once for robbery and once for counterfeiting.

Both were sent back to prison last fall when they were convicted as terrorists.

HOW TRIBUNE TRACKED DOWN 2 TERRORISTS

(Second of three articles on how one phone call to The Tribune led to the Chicago coin machine expose by the Senate rackets committee.)

BY JOSEPH EGELHOF

A big, fat man and a short, thin man! These were the descriptions of the men who attacked the coin machines in the taverns. Sandy Smith and George Bliss, TRIBUNE reporters, had established their descriptions, tho not identities, by a painstaking investigation in which they overcame the suspicions of badly frightened coin machine operators who were being victimized by the mob.

Trace Identification

The newsmen also believed—but could not yet show—that the acid and ax attacks on the machines were linked to the effort of the Chicago orate about democracy, meaning communist tyrannical dictatorship." "Reasonableness" means surrender. "Peace and friendship" means the same thing.

of the machines. They had a good idea of what was going on, and were pressing for more information, seeking a complainant who would stand up and tell his story in court.

The reporters and the detectives swapped information, each team trusting the other not to misuse it, and among other things Daly and Peterson were able to provide physical descriptions of Ross and Rini.

Ross was a tall, heavy man and Rini was small and thin. Back at THE TRIBUNE morgue, the reporters selected about a dozen pictures, including those of Ross and Rini. A TRIBUNE photographer had taken their pictures at the time of their arrest in Maywood.

Once more, the newsmen started on a round of taverns, t[illegible] sheaf fluid had spilled from a medicine bottle lodged at the rear of the machine. He tried to wipe it up, but it caused his towels to shred. He wiped his hands on his trousers, and the fluid ate a hole in his trouser leg.

Zaremba said that when he and Rini were back at the bar, Rini said, "That must be acid." Zaremba replied, "You know that's acid. You threw it on the machine." Zaremba said he went after his pistol and the two men left hurriedly.

Turning his attention back to the pictures, Zaremba stopped at another one. It was of Ross.

"That's the big guy," he said.

Bliss and Smith—reporters, not policemen—went immediately to Detectives Daly and Peterson, who returned with them to the Zaremba tavern. Zaremba repeated his identifications to the officers.

Then the four investigators went to the tavern at 9801 Ewing av. operated by John and Mary Holup, where another machine had been damaged by acid. The machines in the Zaremba and Holup taverns were owned by Leo Romaskiewicz, 1524 N. Ashland av., a rebellious member of the association.

Mrs. Holup identified the photographs and said that Ross and Rini had come in and inquired "why a pool table [machine] had been removed from the place." She said that while Ross talked to her Rini lounged near the bowling machine. After they left, Holup discovered that a

Vogel: He Lives Like Kir

Once Mighty Slot Machine 16-1 Empire Fades

BY SANDY SMITH

In the lush and lofty seclusion of a $100,000 lake front apartment, Eddie Vogel, a deposed slot machine king, is nursing his wounded vanity.

Vogel's pride and his underworld prestige, severely damaged recently by younger gang lords who scorned his counsel, almost was destroyed last month by the Senate rackets committee.

Vogel, in his prime, was a big shot gambler in the grand manner. His operation of thousands of slot machines was the keystone of a Capone mob gambling syndicate which reaped an annual profit of more than 2½ million dollars in Cook county alone.

"Common, Cheap Thug"

But the senators probing Chicago coin game rackets, called Vogel to the witness stand in Washington and branded him a "common, ordinary, cheap thug" and a "disgrace to a civilized country."

In some respects, this disquieting denunciation hurt Vogel more than the disrespect shown him by young mobsters, who refer to the pudgy, aging hoodlum as Big Head and Mr. Five-By-Five.

According to Vogel, neither the senators nor his fellow gangsters are very accurate.

His 175 pounds are spread over a 5 foot 7 inch frame. Tho this does cause a bulge here and there, Vogel is quick to point out that he has not ballooned into the Five-By-Five class.

Lives Like a King

The "cheap thug" label was particularly nettling to Vogel, who is proud of his lavish scale of life. His home is a 10 room apartment on the 19th floor of a glittering stone and glass building at 320 Oakdale av. He is the owner of hundreds of juke boxes and cigaret vending machines; his Cadillacs are chauffeur driven; he maintains a household staff of maids, cooks, barbers, and other lackeys.

His defense against the committee's "disgrace" accusation is a little less specific.

Self-Styled Do-Gooder

"After all the good I've done, they call me that," he told a relative recently.

ly, was a reference to the reputedly open-handed manner in which Vogel has doled out a portion of his gambling profits to charities and to needy friends and distant relatives, including at least one of his three ex-wives.

Vogel, now 64, gained command of slot machines in northern Cook county thru his friendship with Al Capone. His grip on the gambling empire was loosened, however, in the early 1950s when young west side gangsters, led by Sam [Mooney] Giancana, moved into his area and staked their claims.

Toothless Old Tiger

Swiftly, then, Vogel lost his sting. He became a toothless old tiger, no longer feared or respected in the land prime minister whose portfolio had been lost or stolen. He was a rackets adviser with no one to advise. But he never lost his vanity.

The mark of Vogel—an inverted V brand, covered by a seal, on the left side of a slot machine—vanished from the county. His quasi-legitimate enterprises, cigaret machines and jukeboxes, continued to prosper. But his big bonanza, the slot machine, passed into stronger hands.

The gambling realignment forced Vogel to seek other illicit ventures within Chicago, where for years he had been the power behind a combine of union bosses and racketeers that ruled the jukebox industry for the mob.

Fails as Extortionist

Vogel attempted to duplicate the lucrative jukebox racket setup by pushing the operators of thousands of Chicago coin games into a hoodlum controled association where they were taxed $1 a month for each machine.

His fumbling advance into new fields of extortion came a cropper in the glare of publicity and the investigations of the Senate committee.

The uproar over the Senate hearings, in which Vogel's gun hands and acid throwers violated gangland code by telling the committee how Eddie himself had hired them, resulted in discrediting Vogel as a rackets master mind. To the mob it was apparent that, somehow, Eddie had lost the touch.

Removes Nameplate

Vogel returned home from the hearings to find that his 5th amendment appearance before the committee had caused a turmoil among his wealthy neighbors in the Oakdale avenue coöperative apartment building.

The other tenants grumbled that Vogel did not disclose his true identity when he put up a $40,000 down payment on his apartment and shelled out monthly assessments of $350. There was more thalk that he had eased another gangster, Frank [Strongy] Ferrara, into an apartment on the 18th floor.

Vogel's only reaction to the clamor was to remove the nameplate for his apartment from the directory of the building. The nameplate didn't mean much, anyway. It bore the name of his sister who has her own home on Marine drive.

Alias Eddie Brown

As the question of his continued residence in the building was debated at monthly meetings of tenants, Vogel became discreet. His chauffeur, Nathan [Butch] Ladon, 48, of 5100 Cornell av., who carries Vogel's papers, pencils, and keys so the pocket's of the boss' custom made suits will not bulge unbecomingly, was given new instructions.

Once he is out of the building, Vogel's daily travels follow a well established routine. His mornings are spent in the Postl Health club at 188 W. Randolph st., where his telephone calls are received in the name of Eddie Brown. He passes the afternoon at the offices of his coin machine firm, Apex Amusement corporation, 4220 Lincoln av.

This business schedule is a humdrum contrast to the flamboyance of Vogel's early days, which he has been trying to forget. He took the 5th amendment when Senate investigators asked him about his career as a Capone beer runner and gambler.

His reluctance to talk about his salad days is puzzling to Mrs. Marianne Vogel, 61, the first of his three wives. She lives with Vogel's daughter, Mrs. Evelyn LeTourneau, 43, in a second floor flat at 2820 Cermak rd.

The present home of the first Mrs. Vogel is a three room, $30 a month apartment, cluttered with sagging furniture. Her west side flat is a mere six miles from 320 Oakdale av. Actually, tho, it is just about as far as you can get from the swank lake shore diggings of Vogel.

A "Cicero Politician"

Marianne was wed to Vogel on May 18, 1915, when he was 19. He worked summers as a lifeguard in Douglas park and held a winter job in a west side appliance plant. Then they moved to Cicero and Eddie, said Marianne, got into "politics."

"I don't know why Eddie doesn't want to talk about our Cicero days," she said. "We knew many fine people out there. They were all politicians."

She named the "politicians" as Capone, John Torrio, Jimmy Mondi, and Hymie Weiss, all prohibition era hoodlums.

"Eddie never was a bad man," she explained. "Once in a while someone would come to our home with some fault about gambling and talk about violence. Eddie always said he didn't want that. He even told our daughter to always be good and never break the law."

Mrs. Vogel wanted it known that Vogel still was the sole support of her family. Sometimes by letter, and occasionally by courier, he has sent her $225 a month for the last 15 years, she said.

Their marriage broke up in the spring of 1926, she said, "because of Eddie's big mistake—women."

In June, 1926, Vogel married Celia Dresser, but the wedding day was marred by a squawk from his first wife who told federal authorities about interstate parties that preceded the marriage.

Eddie Beats the Rap

The federal agents, hunting Vogel, appeared at his wedding dinner, confiscated guns and illegal booze, and charged Vogel with prohibition law violations.

Vogel beat the case, but the marriage which started with an arrest didn't last. Celia divorced him on June 6, 1933. Two years later, he was wed to his third wife, Velma, in a ceremony at Waukegan. They were divorced on April 18, 1947.

The question of whether Vogel has taken a fourth wife is intriguing now to his gangland buddies. An attractive matron who was divorced from a prominent Chicagoan 13 years ago has been posing as Mrs. Vogel for the last eight years. Her former husband, however, says he still is paying alimony to her.

In recent years, as he turned away from the reputed Mafia brotherhood of gangsters which accepted him as a hired hand but never as a member, Vogel has confined his social activities to his family, his employes, and his own clan of coin machine hoodlums and racketeers.

A Tribune Story Starts Probe of Vogel Income

BY SANDY SMITH

Federal tax agents began an investigation Tuesday of the income of Eddie Vogel, 64, a crime syndicate gangster, after THE TRIBUNE disclosed that he had sent more than $40,000 in cash in the last 15 years to his ex-wife, Marianne, 61.

Vogel

Meanwhile, Mrs. Vogel said that a Vogel emissary, a tall man named Ray, appeared at her home and told her to "keep your mouth shut" about the money she got from Vogel.

"Came in Like Madman"

"He came in my home like a madman," Mrs. Vogel said. "He told me I was going to 'get it' if there was any more talk about the money Eddie sends me."

The messenger, she said, told her:

"If you send Eddie to jail you won't get any more money from him."

Raymond F. Harless, assistant director of internal revenue, said the government would attempt to determine whether Vogel sent the payments to his former wife out of income he reported on his tax returns.

Mrs. Vogel told THE TRIBUNE that the money was brought to her in cash at the rate of $225 a month by a courier named Mike.

It's Support for Three

In this manner, Vogel supported her, their daughter, Mrs. Evelyn LeTourneau, 43, and their grandson, Myles LeTourneau, 5, Mrs. Vogel said.

Vogel, a crime syndicate slot machine czar until he was deposed by younger gangsters, was divorced by Marianne in 1926. She was the first of his three wives. His later marriages also ended in divorce.

Vogel lives in a $100,000 apartment on the 19th floor of a coöperative building at 320 Oakdale av. Marianne Vogel's present home is a cramped, $30 a month, three room flat at 2820 Cermak rd.

On 6-15-59 SA William F. Roemer and the writer contacted the office of the Regular Democratic Headquarters of the First Ward, Chicago, at 100 N. LaSalle, Room 2306. Joseph Laino, Secretary for Alderman John D'Arco, advised that D'Arco was not in but was expected shortly. He stated that Pat Marci was in the building and would be back within a few minutes. It is to be noted that Pat Marci is also a Secretary for Alderman D'Arco and information has been developed that Marci sets up appointments for Gus Alex with other hoodlums and that he is associated with Vogel and has been seen in frequent conversation with Vogel at Postl's Health Club.

In the absence of Alderman D'Arco Pat Marci was interviewed and asked concerning his knowledge of and association with Vogel, Alex, and Murray Humphreys. Marci adopted a very stern attitude and stated, "We're in business here and have been through this before. Any questions you have to take up with me should be submitted to my attorney." He then suggested that agents contact his attorney Joseph Borenstein, Room 914, 110 S. Dearborn Street.

At Encino, California

On 7/21/59, [redacted] Robb's Liquor, 17854 Ventura Boulevard, Encino, California, furnished the following information to SA HAROLD F. DODGE. He did not at first recognize the name of the subject; however, after mention of the name Apex Amusement Company, he recalled VOGEL. He said that VOGEL first came to his store about a year or a year and a half ago and purchased liquor on credit, using his Diner's Club card. Thereafter, VOGEL returned on a number of occasions for the same purpose. [redacted] said that VOGEL was a "good buyer", meaning that he always made a substantial purchase. Examination of his receipts showed that VOGEL usually purchased about $20.00 worth of liquor each time he came in. On some occasions, VOGEL's wife would come in and make the purchases. [redacted] had no recollection of VOGEL ever making a purchase of over $100.00 and added that such a bill was probably a billing by the Diner's Club of a number of purchases. In purchasing liquor, VOGEL always used his firm name, Apex Amusement Company, Chicago, Illinois.

[redacted] knew very little about VOGEL. He learned from VOGEL that VOGEL was staying with a friend who lived in the vicinity of Encino, but he did not know the friend's name. He knew nothing about VOGEL's company, Apex Amusement Company, and nothing about VOGEL's personal activities. [redacted] added that VOGEL has not been to the store for several months.

On September 16, 1959, [redacted] furnished the following information to the writer concerning MICKEY FARR aka Soldier Farr, aka Senator Farr, aka Doctor Farr: [redacted] of Vogel [redacted] advised that FARR resides at the present time at the Morrison Hotel. As of 1955, FARR resided in Room 2723 there, but [redacted] stated he is unaware whether FARR continues to occupy that particular room.

[redacted] was questioned regarding FARR due to the fact that information has previously been received from other sources that FARR is a close associate of both GUS ALEX and EDDIE VOGEL.

[redacted] The information in [redacted] possession came directly to him from [redacted], who at the time the information was given, March of 1955, [redacted] the Scotland Yard Detail of the Chicago Police Department. Therefore, caution should be exercised that this information is not utilized in such a manner as to jeopardize [redacted] relationship with [redacted]

[redacted] stated that [redacted] had a telephonic surveillance on FARR at the Morrison Hotel during 1955 and that most of the following information was developed as a result of this surveillance. As a matter of interest, it was the disclosure of this surveillance which caused [redacted] the Scotland Yard Detail to be disbanded when Mayor RICHARD J. DALEY was made aware of this surveillance after FARR had learned of it. This information has been set out in a separate memo by the writer.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] found that FARR was a very prominent "fight fixer" and that he was fixing professional prize fights all over the country. [redacted] also stated that FARR is a bookmaker for highly placed Democratic politicians and that he handles most of those bets from his room at the Morrison Hotel.

Also with Dr. IRVING SLOTT, 31 North State, a medical examiner for the Boxing Commission. told that he has heard Dr. SLOTT advise FARR that a particular fighter was not physically fit to go four rounds but that he was giving him a clean bill of health and was allowing him to go on. FARR then bet heavily against this particular fighter.

[redacted] also advised that calls were made from Dr. SLOTT's office to [redacted] and that on one occasion after Dr. SLOTT talked to [redacted] he put FARR on the telephone. [redacted] advised [redacted] that many calls were made from [redacted] to FARR, and that the discussion involved therein concerned betting on prize fights.

On another occasion, [redacted] said FARR spoke to an unknown person concerning a fight of TOMMY OLSON, former middle weight champion, and stated "there is 2500 for us in that 3000". [redacted] also informed [redacted] that one [redacted] was made a referee by the Illinois State Boxing Commission through the efforts of MICKEY FARR.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] informed him that FARR contacted the training camp of ROCKY MARCIANO, former worlds heavyweight champion in Holland, Michigan, in 1955 almost every day and on one occasion, stated "We'll show WEILL who is boss". This reference is to the former manager of ROCKY MARCIANO.

[redacted] also gave [redacted] a run-down on the phone calls made by FARR during a 6 month period in 1955. [redacted] stated that FARR made 153 long distance telephone calls during this period to 32 different towns throughout the United States and to Paris. A recapitulation of those phone calls showed that the following individuals were contacted on a frequent basis by FARR:

Reference is made to the 1959 Inspection during which it was recommended that consideration be given to the placing of a misur in Postl's Health Club 188 W Randolph St., Chicago, Ill. in connection with Chicago Top Hoodlum EDWARD DAVID VOGEL.

It is noted that VOGEL utilizes this Club about twice a week when in Chicagg, however this is a public establishment and contains many rooms including a steam bath room, a swimming pool, rub down and heat rooms, locker rooms all of which are used by VOGEL. It has been determined from past investigation that VOGEL does not confer with his associates in any one room nor does he use any one phone for his conversations. This Club has a ~~XXXXXX~~ switchboard, plug in extensions as well as public coin box telephones. Since th is is a public Club opened to all, conversations had by VOGEL would depend on crowd available and would probalbly be in a low tone making it difficult to distinguish his voice from the voices of others. In view of the above it is believed that the placing of a misur at Postl's Health Club would not be practicable at this time.

SUBJECT: TOP HOODLUM PROGRAM

On December 3, 1959, the writer had a lengthy conference with PETER HEIDINGER, Detective, Intelligence Unit, Chicago Police Department. HEIDINGER advised that he was one of the original members of the "Scotland Yard" Unit of the Chicago Police Department. When the "Yard" was disbanded when Mayor DALEY became Mayor of Chicago in 1956, HEIDINGER went with [redacted] of the Narcotics Squad of the Chicago Police Department. HEIDINGER advised that about two years ago he and Detective ROBERT KUKOWINSKI were called into Commissioner O'CONNOR's office and were told that they were going to be the nucleus around which the new Intelligence Unit would be built. KUKOWINSKI was recently put back into uniform and assigned to the Albany Park District so that now HEIDINGER is the only original Scotland Yard man who remains on the Intelligence Unit.

HEIDINGER was asked many questions concerning the nature of the operators of the Intelligence Unit and concerning his opinions of the status of hoodlums in the Chicago Crime Syndicate.

HEIDINGER advised that he believes SAM "MOONEY" GIANCANA is now the "number one man" in the Syndicate. He advised that he believes that WILLIE "POTATOES" DADDANO is the number two man in the "Outfit", and that ROCKY POTENZA would, in his opinion, be the number three man. He opined that other hoodlums who are "big" in the Outfit would be MARSHALL CAIFANO, "MILWAUKEE PHIL" ALDERISIO, "OBBIE" FRABOTTA, [redacted] b6 b7C

HEIDINGER was asked for his opinion of those hoodlums who were "big" in the loop. HEIDINGER replied: "Number one I would say GUSSIE ALEX. Number two D'ARCO and number three, the guy in the First District." When asked who he meant by the "guy in the First District", HEIDINGER replied "PAPE".

It is noted that Captain FRANK PAPE is the commander of the Central (First) District of the Chicago Police Department. JOHN D'ARCO is the alderman of the First Ward with offices at 100 North La Salle. Later in the conversation HEIDINGER advised that he felt that RALPH PIERCE was also "strong" in the loop area.

HEIDINGER was asked where he felt FRANK FERRARO fit in in the loop. HEIDINGER stated that he never heard of FERRARO. When told that FERRARO was called "Strongy". HEIDINGER said "Oh, you mean that guy in Cicero." It appeared that he either did not know FERRARO or did not desire to admit he knew FERRARO. HEIDINGER also was asked what he thought of the status of LOUIE BRIATTA. HEIDINGER replied that he never heard of him. It is noted that this interview took place prior to the WIDE spread publicity concerning BRIATTA in the Chicago Tribune during the week of December 13, 1959.

In regard to FERRARO and BRIATTA this office is aware of definite factual information that they are chief lieutenants of GUS ALEX in the loop and are major hoodlums in the Chicago Crime Syndicate.

HEIDINGER advised that he feels that EDDIE VOGEL is retired and that he has no influence in the Chicago Crime Syndicate at the present time.

HEIDINGER stated that MURRAY HUMPHREYS is a very sick person at the present time and that he is of no stature any longer in the Chicago Crime Syndicate.

HEIDINGER stated that CHUCKIE NICOLETTI owns Blackie's Pizzaria on Clark Street just south of POLK.

HEIDINGER stated that he understands that LENNY PATRICK owns the Black Angus Restaurant at 7127 North Western in Chicago and also owns the Bowling Alley which is located nearby.

HEIDINGER stated that ROSS PRIO owns the Publix Parking Lot in the loop area in Chicago and that he knows that many hoodlums park their automobiles in the Publix Lot located on La Salle at Lake behind the H & H Restaurant.

HEIDINGER advised that the Intelligence Unit is aware of the following meeting placed of the top hoodlums in the Chicago area:

H & H Restaurant
La Salle and Lake Streets

Black Angus Restaurant
7127 North Western

Celano's Tailor Shop
620 North Michigan

Mike Fish's Restaurant
Ontario Street, one block
East of Michigan

HEIDINGER advised that he had received information that CLARICE ACCARDO had the name ARLINE BECK and the telephone number RE 1-1480 in her possession when she arrived from New York after the recent European tour of the ACCARDOs.

HEIDINGER advised that the girlfriend of LENNY PATRICK resides at 5634 North Spaulding in Chicago. She is a blond in her late 30s. HEIDINGER followed her and PATRICK to a race track last summer. HEIDINGER believes that she has some connection with the Little-Big Dollar Department Store at 2836 North Milwaukee. HEIDINGER advised that LENNY PATRICK is currently driving a 1958 blue Oldsmobile with 1959 Illinois license plates 2181911.

HEIDINGER advised that the following bookmakers are big in the Syndicate on the South Side of Chicago:

HEIDINGER advised that several years ago when the Scotland Yard Unit was in operation he was in charge of a detail which "hung wire" at the office of PHIL KATZ in the Oriental Theatre Building on Randolph Street. HEIDINGER stated that KATZ ran a large handbook in a realty office at that address. He stated that the "bug" was in operation for approximately one week when KATZ discovered it and took it out. HEIDINGER stated that he believed that KATZ was tipped off by a member of the police department.

It is the opinion of HEIDINGER that activities of the Intelligence Unit will pick up after the beginning of the year in view of the fact that Captain WILLIAM BALSWICK who is nominally in charge of the unit, will retire. He stated that [redacted] but subject to the wishes of BALSWICK, will then [redacted]

HEIDINGER stated that the Intelligence Unit has "its hands tied" at the present time due to the 1957 wire tapping law which makes it mandatory that a court order be obtained before a technical installation is made. He stated that Mayor DALEY has issued firm instructions that this law be completely complied with without any exceptions. HEIDINGER stated that in the event the Intelligence Unit were successful in obtaining a court order in this regard, the hoodlums would know about the contemplated installation "before we even got out of court", therefore, no attempts are being made in this regard according to HEIDINGER. HEIDINGER advised that another regulation which is "hamstringing" the Intelligence Unit, is the regulation enforced that hoodlums are not to be followed outside the City limits of Chicago. HEIDINGER stated that the hoodlums have become aware of this regulation and whenever they desire to shake a surveillance, they merely drive into Evanston, Oak Park or Cicero and then come back into Chicago via another street.

HEIDINGER advised that [redacted] on the Intelligence Unit is [redacted] It is noted that CG 6343-C* furnished information on November 5, 1959, definitely indicating that one [redacted] b6 b7C

HEIDINGER returned this greeting in the same manner and called this individual "JOE". The writer asked HEIDINGER who the individual was and HEIDINGER replied "Oh, his first name is JOE, but I don't know his last name." He advised that he knew this individual through [redacted] this person who was named [redacted] It is noted that this individual was obviously JOE EPSTEIN, whose activities have diminished in recent years but who is a strong figure in the Chicago Crime Syndicate and who used to be a bookkeeper and handbook operator on a very high level in the loop area of Chicago. IN THE CHICAGO AREA

Reurairtel 12/23/59.

The Chicago Office continues to be extremely interested in the information being furnished by the Minneapolis Office concerning visits by Chicago hoodlums at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota.

In consonance with the suggestion in reairtel, it is believed that it would be of value to the Chicago Office if stops were placed at Mayo Clinic concerning the following hoodlums whose activities are of interest to the Chicago Office. Some of these hoodlums have already been patients at Mayo Clinic and any return there by them would be of interest to this office. The others are highly placed Chicago area hoodlums whose health is known to be such that a visit to Mayo Clinic in the future by them is not unlikely.

ANTI-RACKETEERING

Reurlet, 1/15/60, relating to EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, aka.

Please refer to case entitled EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, aka, ANTI-RACKETEERING, Chicago file 92-345, Los Angeles file 92-250, and particularly to Los Angeles letters to Chicago May 25 and August 11, 1959.

ANN FERNER, apparently living as the wife of VOGEL, is believed to reside at 4055 Whitecak Avenue, Encino, California, where she has non-published telephone STate 8-2156. (Correct spelling is FERNER, not FINNER.) This address is a short distance from Robb's Liquor Store, 17854 Ventura Boulevard, Encino, California.

In response to leads in Chicago report of SA PAUL B. FRANKFURT dated June 23, 1959, inquiry was made by this office on July 21, 1959, of [redacted] Robb's Liquor, where VOGEL's Diner's Club card had been used to charge purchases. The interviewing agent asked [redacted] to retain the interview in confidence, which he agreed to do, as VOGEL made substantial purchases at the store. [redacted] was requested to notify the FBI if VOGEL should again make purchases at his store.

[redacted] has not contacted this office, and he has not been recontacted since the original interview on July 21, 1959. From information appearing in the attachment of referenced letter dated January 15, 1960, it appears that [redacted] is not reliable for confidential inquiry.

Encino is a suburb of Los Angeles on the northwest side. It is a part of Los Angeles city, yet is a distinctive area in the San Fernando Valley. Ventura Boulevard is U.S. Highway 101, the coastal route from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

Los Angeles indices contain no identifiable reference on ANN FLEMER other than that appearing in the file on VOGEL. As VOGEL seems to consider himself undiscovered in the Los Angeles area, an attempt will be made to capitalize on this information by a very discreet investigation in Encino.

The references to Los Angeles Police Department Chief WILLIAM H. PARKER and his Intelligence Division Captain [redacted] relate to a detail of officers from the Intelligence Division assigned to the International Airport. There is an airport in the city of Burbank, with daily flights from Chicago by some United Air Lines planes, and numerous non-scheduled airlines. No police surveillance exists at Burbank, and numerous flights from Las Vegas, Nevada, use the Burbank airport perhaps for that reason. b6 b7C

The reference perhaps to SIDNEY KORSHAK, attorney, apparently refers to the residence formerly described as that of [redacted] a business he inherited. KORSHAK has stayed [redacted] at that residence on occasion. It is in the expensive Bel Air section west of Beverly Hills. It has been reported that SIDNEY KORSHAK has an intense social acquaintance with the actress ANICIDA FLEMING.

On September 23, 1959, Chicago top hoodlum MURRAY HUMPHREYS had a conversation with EDWARD VOGEL, at which time HUMPHREYS complained to VOGEL that the FBI is following everybody around. HUMPHREYS claims that the FBI has been following him around the clock and marking down all car numbers in an attempt to identify his contacts. For this reason HUMPHREYS contacted VOGEL by phone on September 22, 1959. VOGEL indicated to HUMPHREYS that he had not heard from JUKEBOX SMITTY for six or eight months. (JUKEBOX SMITTY is apparently FRED SMITH, associate of VOGEL in the jukebox and coin machine business.)

It was reported that EDDIE VOGEL left for California on September 25, 1959, and that DUTCH LADOU continues to be his bodyguard.

On October 19, 1959, Chicago top hoodlums MURRAY HUMPHREYS and FRANK FERRARO were complaining about the way that EDDIE VOGEL had passed several $1,000 bills on them, and that it was difficult for them to dispose of these bills. HUMPHREYS told FERRARO that they would have to put a stop to it.

On January 14, 1960, MURRAY HUMPHREYS and EDWARD VOGEL had a conference, at which time VOGEL indicated that he was going to California. They discussed the FBI investigation of VOGEL in the Los Angeles area and emphasized the fact that VOGEL had attempted to obtain the identity of the FBI agent who had made an inquiry at a place where VOGEL made purchases. VOGEL claimed that he bought some whiskey in a small town with his Diner's Club card, and upon his return to this store a month later he was informed by the proprietor that the FBI had made an inquiry concerning him. The owner of this store apparently was unsuccessful in later determining the investigator's identity and apprised VOGEL of this fact. VOGEL indicated that he felt secure while in California since this apparently was the closest they came to him which involved a purchase with his Diner's Club card.

VOGEL and HUMPHREYS then discussed the charging off of expenses in connection with their travel and business. VOGEL said that when he lived at the St. Clair Hotel in Chicago he used to charge off items such as railroad tickets, hotels, tips, etc. HUMPHREYS suggested to VOGEL that if he, VOGEL, continues to go to California VOGEL should open a small business of some sort out there since it would give him a way to charge off the traveling expenses for business purposes.

HUMPHREYS also suggested to VOGEL that he should install several cigarette machines in the Florida area so that he could go and fool around in Florida for a couple of months and write it all off. According to HUMPHREYS, if the Government would not allow VOGEL to write it off, VOGEL could fight it since they would know that VOGEL is wrong, however, could do nothing about it.

VOGEL indicated to HUMPHREYS that he bought a boat in Florida, however, has sold it and lost about $10,000 on the transaction.

RE: WILLIAM BENNETT

Informant stated that since most of the gambling in Havana, Cuba, has stopped, BENNETT supposedly has taken a job with CASTRO's Army.

[redacted]

On September 10, 1959, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA WILLIAM F. ROEMER, JR. concerning MICKEY FARR, also known as Soldier Farr, Senator Farr, Doctor Farr, a close associate of EDWARD VOGEL. It is noted that in the 1940s, when VOGEL attended the Mayo Clinic, VOGEL listed FARR as his close associate. b6 b7C b7D

FARR resides at the present time at the Morrison Hotel. As of 1955, FARR resided in Room 2723; however, it is not known at this time whether FARR occupies that particular room.

The information in [redacted] possession came directly to him from [redacted] who at the time the information was given, March of 1955, [redacted] Scotland Yard Detail of the Chicago Police Department.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] had a telephonic surveillance on FARR at the Morrison Hotel during 1955, and that most of the following information was developed as a result of this surveillance. As a matter of interest, it was the disclosure of this surveillance which caused [redacted] Scotland Yard Detail to be disbanded when Mayor RICHARD J. DALEY was made aware of this surveillance after FARR had learned of it.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] found that FARR was a very prominent "fight fixer" and that he was fixing professional prize fights all over the country. [redacted] also stated that FARR is a bookmaker for highly placed Democratic politicians and that he handles most of these bets from his room at the Morrison Hotel.

[redacted] told [redacted] that he learned that FARR was in frequent contact with the following persons:

TRUMAN J. GIBSON, an official of the International Boxing Club

[redacted] b6 b7C

IRVING SCHOENWALD, Chicago fight promoter

JACK DEGNI, Chicago fight promoter

BARNEY ROSS, former world's and welter and middle weight champion

[redacted] advised that [redacted] informed him that FANN is very close to ART WINCH, Inspector for the Illinois Boxing Commission, who in 1955, resided at 6042 North Kildare; also, with Doctor IRVING SLOTT, 31 North State, a medical examiner for the Boxing Commission, [redacted] that he has b6 heard Doctor SLOTT advise FANN that a particular fighter was b7C not physically fit to go four rounds, but that he was giving him b7D a clean bill of health and was allowing him to go on. FANN then bet heavily against this particular fighter.

[redacted] also advised that calls were made from Doctor SLOTT's office to [redacted] and that on one occasion after Doctor SLOTT talked to [redacted] he put FANN on the telephone. [redacted] advised [redacted] that many calls were made from [redacted] to FANN, and that the discussion involved therein concerned betting on prize fights.

[redacted] also advised [redacted] that calls were made from [redacted] to an [redacted]

[redacted] and that during the discussion an envelope which [redacted] would receive was mentioned. [redacted] stated that the implication was that [redacted] were being paid off in return for certain services.

On another occasion, [redacted] said FARR spoke to an unknown person concerning a fight of DOCO OLSON, former middle weight champion, and stated "there is 2000 for us in that 2000." [redacted] also informed [redacted] that one [redacted] was made a referee by the Illinois State Boxing Commission through the efforts of MICKEY FARR.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] informed him that FARR contacted the training camp of ROCKY MARCIANO, former world's heavy weight champion in Holland, Michigan, in 1955, almost every day and on one occasion stated, "We'll show WHO'LL who is boss." This reference is to the former manager of ROCKY MARCIANO.

[redacted] also gave [redacted] a run-down on the phone calls made by FARR during a 6 month period in 1955. [redacted] stated that FARR made 153 long distance telephone calls during this period to 32 different towns throughout the United States and to Paris. A recapitulation of these phone calls showed that the following individuals were contacted on a frequent basis by FARR:

On June 23, 1950, [redacted] Diner's Club, advised SA STEPHEN L. HALPIN that there were no additional charges to VOGEL's account since previously contacted. [redacted] stated that the record of charges previously furnished indicated all the charges to VOGEL's account.

On August 23, 1950, [redacted] was recontacted and advised that there were no additional charges to VOGEL's account. According to [redacted] the charges for one month are billed about the twentieth of the following month so these records, as checked on August 27, 1950, cover the month of July.

On October 23, 1950, Mr. [redacted] advised SA HALPIN that there was no activity in the account of VOGEL for the months of August and September, 1950. VOGEL has been billed for renewal of his Diner's Club card, but the records did not indicate VOGEL's return for renewal.

On December 30, 1950, Mr. [redacted] advised that VOGEL has renewed his membership in the Diner's Club. He added that on October 24, 1950, VOGEL was charged for an item of merchandise for $73 at Alfred Dunhill, Chicago, Illinois.

The following investigation was conducted by the Los Angeles Division:

AT ENCINO, CALIFORNIA

On July 21, 1950, [redacted], Robb's Liquor, 17354 Ventura Boulevard, Encino, California, furnished the following information to SA HAROLD F. DODGE. He did not at first recognize the name of the subject; however, after mention of the name Apex Amusement Company, he recalled VOGEL. He said that VOGEL first came to his store about a year or a year and a half ago and purchased liquor on credit, using his Diner's Club card. Thereafter, VOGEL returned on a number of occasions for the same purpose. [redacted] said that VOGEL was a "good buyer", meaning that he always made a substantial purchase. Examination of his receipts showed that VOGEL usually purchased about $20 worth of liquor each time he came in. On some occasions, VOGEL's wife would come in and make the purchases. [redacted] had no recollection of VOGEL ever making a purchase of over $100, and added that such a bill was probably a billing by the Diner's Club of a number of purchases. In purchasing liquor, VOGEL always used his firm name, Apex Amusement Company, Chicago, Illinois. b6 b7C

[redacted] knew very little about VOGEL. He learned from VOGEL that VOGEL was staying with a friend who lived in the vicinity of Encino, but he did not know the friend's name. He knew nothing about VOGEL's company, Apex Amusement Company, and nothing about VOGEL's personal activities. [redacted] added that VOGEL has not been to the store for several months.

The following investigation was conducted by SA LEONARD AUGUSTSON:

AT BEVERLY HILLS, CALIFORNIA

On August 6, 1953, Miss [redacted] Romanoff's, 149 South Rodeo Drive, advised that the only record she has of subject's purchases was a $50 purchase on March 5, 1953, and a $70 purchase on July 15, 1953, both from the gift shop. She had no record of any bill from the restaurant on July 16, 1953. She believes subject may have used Diner's Club credit card, and they do not keep these records by name. She was not personally acquainted with the subject, but the record she had was under his name and the Apex Amusement Corporation, 4246 Lincoln Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. b6 b7C

On August 6, 1953, [redacted] Romanoff's advised he was unable to recall the subject and his party held on July 16, 1953. He stated a bill of $203.95 would be for approximately six to eight guests.

On August 7, 1953, [redacted] Beverly Hills Hotel, advised he had no record of the subject as a former guest, nor any record of any purchases made. Subject was unknown at this hotel.

On August 7, 1953, [redacted], Jurgensen's Gourmet, 353 North Rodeo Drive, advised he had no personal recollection of subject and his purchases. He stated that they do not have a restaurant, only sell groceries and liquors. He further advised that the records were kept at their main office, 400 North Beverly Boulevard, Beverly Hills.

b7C

On August 7, 1953, Miss [redacted] Jurgensen's, 400 North Beverly Boulevard, advised of no record of any purchases by subject. Purchases made with use of Diner's Club credit card by customers were also checked, with negative results.

The other establishments listed in referenced report of June 23, 1953, are for the most part expensive restaurants in the Los Angeles area. It does not appear that information of value would be received through contact with these restaurants at the present time.

SUBJECT SHOULD BE CONSIDERED ARMED AND DANGEROUS IN VIEW OF HIS DANGEROUS PROPENSITIES.

She was then observed to proceed to Charles and Antoinett Follette School of Piano, Organ and Voice at 17462 Ventura Boulevard where she remained for approximately one hour.

On March 8, 1960, a 1960 gray Ford station wagon with California license TBA 223 was observed parked in front of the White Oak address. An unknown man was observed to depart from this car and spoke briefly to two young girls that were in the rear of the residence. The two girls would be approximately 14 or 15 years of age. The subject was not observed at 4655 White Oak Avenue on March 8, 1960.

On March 9, 1960, the 1960 Ford station wagon, California license TBA 223, was again observed at the White Oak address by SAs of the FBI. An elderly gray-haired woman was observed to depart the residence with another unknown blonde female and a teen-age girl and entered the Ford station wagon. They were observed contacting several homes in the area which had for sale signs on them. The subject was not observed on March 9, 1960.

On March 9, 1960, the 1960 Ford station wagon, California license TBA 223, was observed to leave the White Oak Avenue address with a blonde female as the sole occupant and was observed to proceed to 8626 Delco Avenue, Canoga Park, California.

On April 5, 1960, a blue Falcon automobile with California license TRL 318 was observed parked at the White Oak address. According to the DMV, this automobile is registered to ANN [redacted] 4655 White Oak Avenue, Encino, California. b6 b7C

The records of the Los Angeles RMCA as reviewed by SK JAMES L. MAHAN on March 14, 1960, reveal a credit report dated April, 1958, for GEORGE H. NADIAN; wife, LORRAINE NELSON. NADIAN's age is listed as in his 40's and he formerly resided at Villa Park, Illinois. NADIAN's address is shown as 8626 Delco, Canoga Park, California, and he is employed as a salesman since April, 1958, by the Towne and Country Motors, 7400 Reseda Boulevard, Reseda, California. NADIAN formerly was owner of the Dawn Snack Shop, La Grange, Illinois. NADIAN's credit report contains judgments against NADIAN for failure to pay debts. The credit report reveals that NADIAN owned a home in Villa Park, Illinois, valued at $50,000.00 which was in his wife's name. While in La Grange he built a business building on land he did not own and in addition to his snack shop also had a radio and television shop in the Chicago, Illinois, area. The credit report reveals that NADIAN left La Grange owing considerable money and in the village of Westmont he is reported to owe over $30,000.00. The credit report contains a letter from the Q Suburban Credit Bureau dated April 17, 1958, to the Los Angeles RMCA which reveals that GEORGE NADIAN is connected with a syndicate. This letter reveals that NADIAN's operation is to go into a small territory and because he is a glib talker he is able to "milk" the merchants and the merchants do not dare collect because they are "scared of him and his syndicate." FLOYD CARPENTER

The Philadelphia Office furnished the following information conducted by SA J. ROBERT PEARCE: b6 b7C

On March 7, 1960, Mrs. [redacted] Marchwood Apartment, 5515 Wissahickon Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, advised that FLOYD A. CARPENTER and his wife were the tenants for apartment 401-C. Mrs. [redacted] stated that neither Mr. or Mrs. CARPENTER remain in the apartment but on infrequent occasions, the last being around Christmas, 1959. Mrs. [redacted] believes that Mrs. CARPENTER resided in Chicago where she is employed by unknown individuals as a nurse. From conversations with Mr. CARPENTER, she believes that he is in the brokerage business and was possibly living in New York City. She knew of no reason why the CARPENTERs maintained the above-described apartment while using it only infrequently.

From March 7, 1960 to April 18, 1960, numerous telephone contacts were made to the CARPENTERs' apartment with negative results.

On April 15, 1960, it was determined that telephone number Victory 3-7961 was listed to F. A. CARPENTER, 5515 Wissahickon Avenue. It was reported that the subscriber had moved. CARPENTER had moved to Philadelphia from Chicago and Mr. CARPENTER was employed by J. C. Devine Company in the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Building.

On April 18, 1960, [redacted] J. C. Devine Company, advised that FLOYD A. CARPENTER was in the employ of that company as a telegrapher but had for more than one year been working J. C. Devine Company's office at 48 Wall Street, New York City. He stated that CARPENTER maintained an apartment in Philadelphia but did not return to Philadelphia so far as he knew. It was pointed out that the above company specializes as a brokerage firm for government and municipal bonds and securities.

Files of the Philadelphia Police Department as checked by IC [redacted] April 18, 1960, contain no record identifiable with FLOYD A. CARPENTER. b6 b7C

The files of the Philadelphia Credit Bureau contains the following credit report dated December 19, 1958, for FLOYD CARPENTER and his wife FREIDA of the Marchwood Apartments, since March, 1958. There is no previous record in the file. CARPENTER was described as white, male, American, 62 years of age, wife dependent. He formerly resided 1417 West Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., and 1731 New Hampshire Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. He was employed by the J. C. Devine and Company, 25 South Broad Street, Philadelphia, a large investment firm, as a telegrapher operator for six years. He held the same position in Washington for five years and was highly recommended by employer. He was well regarded as to habits, morals, character, and so forth.

Remylet 9/1/60.

The following investigation was conducted by SA CARL E. UNDERHILL at Palm Springs and Desert Hot Springs, California, on September 19, 1960.

Investigation at Desert Hot Springs reflected that the telephone booth located immediately outside the Coffee's Hot Mineral Baths at 11-083 Palm Drive, had the telephone number FAirview 9-9083. This booth is presently in service although Coffee's has been closed for the summer. In checking with the operator, it was determined that the booth phone itself has no phone connection service with Coffee's Hot Mineral Baths.

Regarding the telephone call made on March 10, 1960, to MICKEY FARR at the Pueblo Hotel in Palm Springs, Mrs. [redacted] Pueblo Motor Hotel, 1983 North Palm Canyon Drive, Palm Springs, advised that MICKEY FARR of the Morrison Hotel, Chicago, Illinois, had checked in on March 6, 1960, and departed on March 11, 1960. He had rented rooms 105 - 106 and incurred a bill of $284.53. No car was shown on the registration card.

Mrs. [redacted] explained that in return for a cheaper rate of advertising, the newspaper doing the advertising for the hotel was given a "Due Bill" which then would be credited for any newspaper personnel or guests staying at the hotel.

Mrs. M. DALE, 501 South Ogden Drive, Los Angeles, was noted as being the guest of FARR in Room 106. Mrs. [redacted] stated she had no other information.
